

I have had the good fortune of finding AVATON (formerly Beaver Installations) roughly 15 years ago and continue to use their services today. They have provided solutions, service and support for our bar, Spa, and home. We provided them with our requirements (which have changed over the years), and they made excellent recommendations for both price and quality. Their solutions resulted in a system that met the extremely complicated video and audio requirements of our bar. They have also provided video, audio, and most recently, surveillance systems at the Spa. I highly recommend AVATON for their knowledge, experience and ethics. I especially appreciate the support that they have given us over the years. In business, support is extremely important.
